Corporate Governance in China:
The Role of the State and Ideology in Shaping Reforms

Angus Young
Monash University
Australia

Grace Li
Faculty of Law
University of Technology, Sydney
Australia

K. L. Alex Lau
Department of Accountancy and Law
School of Business
Hong Kong Baptist University

Abstract

This paper uses Chinese telecommunication companies to analyse the role played by the Chinese government within them. The ideological changes experienced by Chinese corporate governance, since the implementation of the economic reform, will also be discussed. This paper will appear in The Company Lawyer Volume 28, No. 7, p.204 (July 2007).